Weather, Rivers and Business. Yesterday was the finest as well as the dullest day of the year. But very little freight was moving, and the boatmen were all up-town, except those necessarily compelled to be on hand. The river rose two inches, and now stands thirty-three feet two inches above low-water mark. A rise of seven inches is reported at Pittsburg, and twenty-two inches at Cincinnati. STAGE OF RIVERS.

The Nashville Uxion of Wednesday reports: "Tennessee bonds have again declined, closing in New York at St., and 08 for the funded series. As the July interest, is being paid, and as it known the January interest, 1875, will be paid beyond doubt, this decline is remarkable, especially when we take lifto consideration the ease of the New York money market, and we cannot account for it except from the growing apprehension that the next legislature will repeal the present assessment and tax law, and pass a lower rate of taxes. Such seem to be the misgivings of New York bankers, as well as of some holders in this Stale, and recently there has been some pressure to sell. Comptroller's warrants are quiet and in but little demand, though we believe but few are on the market. Dealers pay 97 for small loss and (fler 96) for large." The Little Rock (Ark.)
